arer responsibilities for the road commission, according to Jona Keir, county road engineer Crawford county now has 154.69 miles of primary roads compar ea with 339.86 talles in 1936. The dend of adding mileag to the primary system is state-wide, based on figures compiled by the County Road Association of Gickagan. The state row has 25,156 miles of codaty primary roads compared with 23,020 in 1956, a gain of hearly 10 percent. Fan C. Rogers, Enuncer -D rector for the County Road Association, said the trend is significant because it depicts the growing importance of key county accertain in moving greater traffic veit mes. Growth of the parmary system also has created fresh problems in many counties because costs of construction and maintenance of major roads can be six to tea times greater per mile team for local roads, Rogers noted. In some urbanized areas premary roads may eost up to $1 million per raile to build.

In the 1956 67 period major street systems maintained by Michigan municipalities mereas ed by 1,541 miles walle the state's secondary trankline sysrem, Occienced from 2896 miles a 1956 to 2,362 miles in 1967. The shift of key roads to in administration resulted in part from the scate's abandor. ment of previous trunklines j which have been replaced by reforated expressways.

Togers observed that many counties which have absorbed former state trunklines into their been conficient with steat responsibilities in maintaidif these roads advancety.
